COUNT LANDS IN CELL ON A BRIBERY CHARGE: POLICEMAN SCORNS $1

Felix von Borsow Arrested in Dodging Jeweler's Clerk With C. O. D. Order.

"Count" Felix von Borsow, who was which he could not furnish.

Theodore Biens, clerk for M. L. Gold-me, No. 1655 Broadway, identified the "Count" as the man who came to him on June 16 and got two diamond rings valued at $500 to exhibit to his wife, who was "lying ill" at No. 119 West Fifty-sixth street. Biens declared he took the rings to the address, and here he was met by Von Borsow, who saked permission to take the rings uponers caying he would return almost termediately. "He took the rings and the came back," declared Blens. he other jewellers who identified him as the man who had made similar requests of them said they had not suffered losses, as their agents refused to part with the goods. arrest of von Borsow followed

The arrest of von Borsow followed a fittle shopping expedition on Fifth average, during which he called at a jewelry store at No. 84 and selected a diamond engagement ring valued at $350 and a show cup valued at $150, which he cated to be sent C. O. D. to No. 131 (West Ninety-fourth street, Ma told William G. Marguet, a clerk in the store, that he expected to be in the store, that he expected to be married in a fortnight and wanted the sliver cup as a memento.

Marguet decided to deliver the package himself. When he rang the bell at No. 181 West Ninety-fourth street he as told that the tenant there was Dr. wight L. Hubbard, but that Von Bor-re had come there in the morning well economicated to occupy a suite of Lieut. Hayes ruled that no charge could be preferred against the prisener by the jewelry salesman, since Borsow had not received the goods. But Hayes entered a complaint of attempted bribers.

WALTER W. BURRIDGE DEAD.

Noted Scene Painter Succumbe While on Trip to New Mexico.

Walter W. Burridge, a noted scene painter, whose latest work was the scenery for Klaw & Erlanger's "Trail foolish enough to try to bribe a police of the Lonesome Pine," is dead of acute indigestion at Albuquerque, N. M., where he had gone after making sketches in the Grand Canyon for some jewels to "inspect at his home," faced a composition. His wife was with him.

Mr. Burridge was the son a Brooklyn innkeeper and fifty-six years old. As mend merchants as the man who had tried similar ventures at their expense.

The "count" asked an adjournment until painted $200,000 worth of scenery for the Brooklyn Academy of Music.
